

Reflective Practice Group for Adolescent Parent Providers

MOAPPP, The Center of Excellence in Children's Mental Health, and the Center for Early Education and Development are offering a series of monthly reflective practice groups designed specifically for providers of adolescent parent services.

This program recognizes that working with infants, toddlers and their parents evokes powerful feelings in the professionals who deliver these relationship-based services. This can be especially true when working with adolescent parents. By "stepping back" to reflect on our observations, feelings and actions, we are better able to develop interventions that support the evolving relationship between the parent and child.

Who should participate?

Practitioners who work with adolescent parents and their children.

Cost for the four-part series:

MOAPPP members: $75.00 Non-members: $100
Scholarships are available through MOAPPP.
