Transitions to a new middle or high school can trip up students as they get overwhelmed by the combination of social and academic changes. Students' grades and attendance may also decline.

Learn how successful transition programs can build positive connections between students and their new schools.

Workshop includes:

- Building capacity to connect with transitioning students and their families.
- Understanding why students can disconnect when moving into a new school.
- Exploring concrete ideas and strategies for building transition programs.

Forum presenters:

- Staff from Orono Middle School
- Staff and students from Patrick Henry High School

Sponsored by the Initiative for Violence-Free Families at Family & Children's Service, the Hennepin County Human Services and Public Health Department, and the Hennepin County Attorney's Office
