

New Training for Parent Educators:
It's That Easy!
Helping Caring Adults Raise Sexually Healthy Children.

Twin Cities Metro Training
January 27—28, 2009 ~ Minneapolis ~ 8:30 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Location
Center for Families—3333 N. 4th Street, Minneapolis

Who should attend?

Parent educators who work with families of children at any stage birth to adolescence.

Why?

Consciously or not, parents/guardians are the first, most important models for relationships in their children's lives.

What?

Highly interactive two day training focused on:

- Foundations in attachment and parent child connectedness (PCC)
- Supporting parents/guardians in recognizing and conveying their values and messages
- Hands on experience with time tested, effective strategies.

Expectations:

Participants will receive It's That Easy (ITE) Manual

Participants will facilitate It's That Easy workshops in their home communities.

Cost?

$50 MOAPPP members & $85 Non-members

Partial scholarships are available.

MOAPPP is committed to making this training available to all professionals who wish to attend. To request a scholarship application, contact moapp@moapp.org.

Certificates of attendance will be distributed at the end of the training event. Participants self-report continuing education credits to their respective state boards.

Reasonable accommodations for people with disabilities will be provided but must be requested at least two weeks prior to the training event
